KOHA RESOURCES

Easy access to Koha resources online for new users

Koha Community Website

https://koha-community.org/

Koha Community mailing lists

Main Koha discussion list
https://bit.ly/kohamail

Koha developers
https://bit.ly/kohadev

Koha bugs
https://bit.ly/kohabugs

Koha Community Chat Server

https://chat.koha-community.org/

Koha Wiki

Koha Wiki home page
https://bit.ly/kohawiki

Koha reports library
https://bit.ly/kohareports

Koha jQuery library
https://bit.ly/kohajquery

Koha notices and slips library
https://bit.ly/kohanotices

US Regional mailing lists

Kansas

Koha explorers group
email: kegger+subscribe@lists.nekls.org then reply to the automated email you receive

Rocky Mountain West
https://bit.ly/kohausrmwest

North Texas
https://bit.ly/kohausntx

koha-US Websites

Main website
https://koha-us.org

List of all koha-US mailing lists https://koha-us.org/mailing-lists/

koha-US video playlists
https://koha-us.org/learn/video-playlists/koha-US quick reference guides https://koha-us.org/learn/#learn-quickref

koha-US Special Interest Groups

See https://koha-us.org/special-interest-groups/

Groups include:

Acquisitions

Cataloging

Circulation

Consortia

Demonstration

System administration

Web development

Koha bugs

Bugzilla
https://bit.ly/kohabugzilla

koha-US bug tracker
http://koha-us.org/bugs/

Koha Manual

https://koha-community.org/documentation/

Koha Meaning

Koha is a word from the Maori culture and language that means "gift with obligations or expectations.

The Koha integrated library system was written by Katipo Communications in New Zealand in 1999 on commission for the Horowhenua Trust Libraries in Levin, New Zealand. Katipo and Horowhenua Trust made the decision to release Koha with a free and open source license as a gift to the library community. Our obligation as users of Koha is to find ways to contribute what we are able to the improvement of Koha for all others who use it.

Koha is an unqualified open source success story.
Koha is currently the most widely used integrated library system in the world.

Koha New User Challenge

☒ Challenge #1

Attend a regional Koha users meeting

(Congratulations, challenge met)

☐ Challenge #2

Watch an episode of

Monday Minutes

or

Terriffic Every Other Thursday

on YouTube

☐ Challenge #3

Join a Koha mailing list

(see the other side of this page for links to several mailing lists)

☐ Challenge #4

Download a report, notice, or some jQuery from the Koha wiki and add it to your Koha server

(see the other side of this page for links)

☐ Challenge #5

Attend a koha-US meeting

(you don't even need to turn on your camera—just show up and listen to what's happening)

☐ Challenge #6

Attend a Koha Conference

Koha-US 2024
Round Rock, Texas: 8/13-8/16

KohaCon24
Montreal, QC, Canada: 9/23-9/27

(also livestreamed and recorded on YouTube)